The Inland Empire Jaguar Club's 2009 Concours d'Elegance was held Saturday, October 3 in beautiful Idyllwild, California. The venue was the cabin area of the Idyllwild Inn. The San Diego Jaguar Club had a good showing with eleven entries and one display.

The night prior to the show, the IEJC hosted wine and hors d'oeuvres in Chief Judge Rusty Beard's cabin. After an hour or so of socializing, a group of ten of us San Diegans walked across the street to enjoy the food and warm hospitality of the Gastrognome Restaurant, a long-time favorite of the Club. The we bumped into Bob and Lyn Brown who had brought their MK 2 all the way from Arizona. After dinner we returned to our cabins, lit a fire in the fireplace and snuggled in for a good read before the show.

We were up bright and early Saturday in the chilly morning air to give ourselves plenty of time to do those last minute preparatory cleanings and buffings. Unlike previous years, the weather stayed temperate with evenings in the 40s and day time in the 70s.

The show was an unmitigated success. The turn-out was excellent with twenty-four Jaguars entered in competition and twelve more on display. Judging was efficient and fair. I am proud to report that all of the San Diego entries came away with trophies. With the combination of good friends, wine, weather, and surroundings, I think I speak for us all when I say, "I'll be back!"
